GENERAL SECRETARY Sueli Aparecida Maeda

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Brazilian Division of the International Academy of Pathology (IAP), I am delighted to invite you to the XXVIIIth Congress of the IAP to be held in São Paulo, Brazil, from October 10 to 15, 2010.

Sessions will take place in the Transamerica Hotel Convention Center, which is connected to the city train-subway system and close to several hotels and shopping centers.

The Organizing Committee is preparing an interesting and informative scientific program, intending to gather an international faculty of experts in the following fields of Pathology: Autopsy; Bone and Soft Tissue; Breast; Cardiovascular; Computational Pathology & Telepathology; Citopathology; Dermatopathology; Endocrine; Environmental; Gastrointestinal; Gynecology; Oral and Head & Neck; Hematopathology/ Bone Marrow; Hepatobiliary/ Pancreas; Immunohistochemistry; Infectious Disease; Medical Education; Molecular Pathology; Neuropathology; Ophthalmic; Pediatric/ Neonatal; Pulmonary/ Pleural; Renal; Surgical Pathology; Urology and Veterinary.

Dr. Christopher Fletcher, Dra. Elaine Jaffe, Dr. Jorge Reis Filho and Dra. Núbia Muñoz are already confirmed as Keynotes Speakers.

São Paulo is one of the most important city in South America and has a very cosmopolitan, multiethnic atmosphere, intense cultural life and is worldwide known for the excellence of its international cuisine. Its international and domestic airport connects the city to all major tourist destinations in Brazil and South America.

October is sunny and a very pleasant time of the year. A number of social events and tours for many interesting destinations, such as Rio de Janeiro and Iguassu Falls, will be organized.

We are looking forward to receiving your scientific contribution and welcome you in São Paulo in October 2010.

Marcello Franco, MD, PhD
PRESIDENT

Pré and Post Tours in Brazil

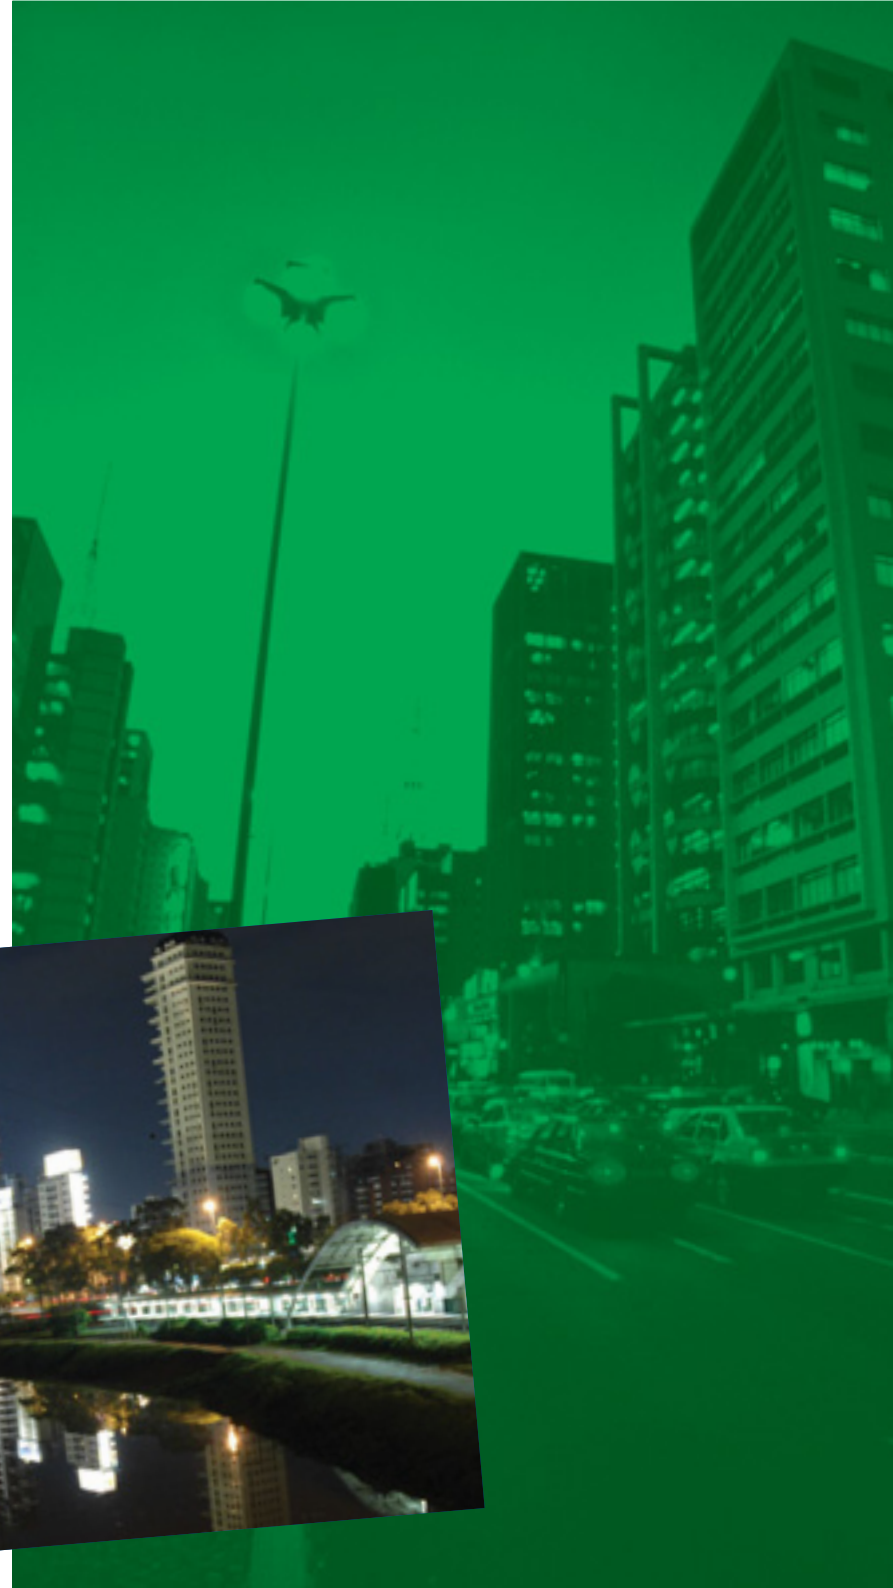

City of São Paulo

Beautiful, rich, intellectual, democratic, upbeat, sporty, cultural, sentimental, romantic, modern, serious, extroverted, professional. After all, what could define São Paulo? There is no single adjective that could precisely describe what this world-renowned megacity is about.

Forged from a multiplicity of nationalities, cultures, beliefs, philosophies and ideals, this great pioneering metropolis is truly cosmopolitan, both by vocation and by choice.

It's Italian, German, Jewish, Portuguese, Japanese, Chinese, French, African, Arab, Spanish, Latino, Brazilian, Paulistano. These and so many other facets are present in the architecture of the buildings, the streets, the refined tastes of the city's culinary delights and in the styles and mannerisms of a people who never stop, day after day valiantly writing the story of the city.

The grandeur of São Paulo can be described in many ways. Highlights include the largest network of hotels in Latin America, the most complete hospital infrastructure and the greatest collection of cultural offerings in Brazil. It is considered one of the international capitals for gastronomy, a consolidated destination for large-scale events, fairs and exhibits renowned around the world, and is home to distinguished academic and research centers, and so much more. The São Paulo State capital is one of few places where modernity and history coexist harmoniously. Illustrious events took place in the city involving from Brazilian Independence to political, cultural revolutions and pro-democracy protests. It is home to hundreds of cinemas, museums, theaters, historical-cultural heritage sites, parks, performance halls, theme parks, restaurants, bars, hotels, events spaces, fairs, shopping centers and specialized shopping districts.

Historical Colonial Cities Minas Gerais

The marvelous baroque art and the importance of the historical cities of Ouro Preto, Mariana, Sabará, Congonhas do Campo, São João del Rey, Tiradentes, and Belo Horizonte. You can enjoy the particular cuisine of the area and one of our most famous drinks, "cachaça", of which you will be able to the process of production.

Ouro Preto :: Considered by UNESCO as "Worldwide Monument of the Baroque Art".

Mariana :: Considered "National Monument" since 1945 and the only planned city of the colonial period.

Sabará :: Its churches represent the splendor and the most refined wealth of baroque.

Congonhas do Campo :: In Congonhas do Campo, the artist Aleijadinho turned the art of the baroque in a perpetual one. "Os Profetas", the "Capela dos Passos" and the "Basílica de Bom Jesus dos Matosinhos" attract visitors from many parts of the world due to its beauty.

São João del Rey :: Famous due to the movements pro-freedom of that time, the city still preserves some habits of the colonial period, such as having all major events of the community be announced by the churches bells.

Tiradentes :: The city preserves important architecture and its main streets lead to the church of "Santo Antonio", one of the richest and most beautiful monuments of baroque.

Belo Horizonte :: Capital of the State, was one of the first planned Brazilian cities. It received this name for its beautiful and breathless landscape at high points. The architecture of "Pampulha", planned in the decade of 40, on the edges of the artificial lagoon, is composed of beautiful examples of the vanguard architecture, of Niemeyer, for the gardens of Burle Marx, paintings of Portinari and sculptures of Ceschiatti, Zamoiski and José Pedrosa.
